

Arcanum in the news

September 20, 2013

FORMER CHENEY NATIONAL SECURITY ADVISOR IS NEWEST ADDITION TO ARCANUM

Arcanum Hires The Honorable John Hannah to Serve as Senior Advisor

Zurich/London/Washington, DC – Arcanum, a strategic global intelligence firm and an RJI Capital company, announced today that John Hannah has joined Arcanum as a Senior Advisor. Mr. Hannah served as National Security Advisor to Vice President Dick Cheney during the administration of George W. Bush.

Arcanum, a strategic global intelligence firm and an RJI Capital company, announced today that John Hannah has joined Arcanum as a Senior Advisor. Mr. Hannah served as National Security Advisor to Vice President Dick Cheney during the administration of George W. Bush. “John Hannah’s experience at the highest levels of US foreign policy and his expertise on national security issues are unparalleled. I have worked with John over the years and am thrilled to have him join our team,” said Ron Wahid, CEO of RJI Capital Company, the parent company of Arcanum.

John Hannah has nearly two decades of experience at the highest levels of US foreign policy. He has served in senior positions in both Republican and Democratic administrations. From 2005-2009, Mr. Hannah was Vice President Cheney’s top foreign policy advisor and headed his Office of National Security Affairs. In President Bush’s first term, he served as the Vice President’s Deputy National Security Advisor for Middle East Affairs.

During the presidency of William J. Clinton, Mr. Hannah was a Senior Advisor to Secretary of State Warren Christopher, focused on the Middle East, the Balkans, and Russia and the former Soviet states. He also served in the administration of George H.W. Bush as a member of Secretary of State James A. Baker’s Policy Planning Staff, where he worked extensively on the collapse of the former Soviet Union and Warsaw Pact, as well as the first Gulf War and its aftermath.

Outside of government, Mr. Hannah had a law practice focused on international dispute resolution. He also served as Deputy Director at The Washington Institute for Near East Policy. Mr. Hannah currently is a Senior Fellow at The Foundation for Defense of Democracies, where he writes and speaks on US foreign policy. His articles have been published in The New York Times, Washington Post, and Wall Street Journal, and he blogs regularly at ForeignPolicy.com. Mr. Hannah is a graduate of the Yale Law School and Duke University.

About Arcanum

Arcanum, a wholly-owned subsidiary of RJI Capital Holdings, is a global intelligence firm that provides a host of bespoke and tailored strategic intelligence products to government entities and the private sector across a range of industries. By maintaining a highly diversified intelligence and business network around the globe, Arcanum's industry-leading global resources and technical expertise are delivered from its offices in Washington, DC, London, Tel Aviv, Dubai, Zurich and Hong Kong. For further information, go to www.arcanumglobal.com or contact Yael Hartmann, Director of Strategic Communications, at hartmann@arcanumglobal.com.

Arcanum Contact:

Yael Hartmann

hartmann@arcanumglobal.com