

STEVEN J. CUEVAS

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT & GENERAL COUNSEL

Steven Cuevas is Executive Vice President & General Counsel. In that capacity, he is responsible for overseeing the company's legal work and managing external counsel while maintaining responsibility for Group Corporate Governance and Compliance. He is also responsible for government relations in the U.S. He brings extensive expertise and experience in legal, management, transactional and regulatory functions.

Prior to joining the Group in 2017, he served as Vice President and General Counsel of the North American arm of the French utility giant AREVA, the largest supplier of nuclear and renewables technology products and services in the world. He was responsible for the global restructuring of AREVA, and as a member of the executive committee, oversaw all strategy and management for the company and its subsidiaries. His role also included managing all legal, compliance and risk related aspects of U.S. operations and U.S.-based global transactions.

Mr. Cuevas was instrumental in taking Group revenue growth from $400 million to nearly $1 billion annually for the U.S.-based subsidiary of AREVA. Mr. Cuevas began his career at AREVA in 2009 as Director of Business Development for Strategic Initiatives. In this role, he developed the corporate business plan for the North American market, developed requirements for annual sales to justify capital investment in the market, identified potential supply chain partners and areas of supply needs, developed the opportunity pipeline and assessed overall market viability.

Prior to working at AREVA, in 2003 Mr. Cuevas was appointed by the Administration of George W. Bush as a senior official at the Department of Energy (DOE), where he spearheaded the creation and management of a new program that reviewed the national security implications of foreign investment. After being promoted to Director of Investment Security at the DOE, Mr. Cuevas created and mobilized the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS), enabling the DOE to meet national security requirements created by the Foreign Investment and National Security Act.

He is based in the Company's Washington, DC offices.